Koastal Team Rider News:

An Email from Koastal Team Rider Paul Pugliesi:

Happy Monday Everyone,

Well let's see it was a great weekend. I surfed in the 13th Annual Surf For The Sea Contest here at the Oceanside Pier Saturday and Sunday. The Waves were so perfect. For the Final 6 ft plus and down the line ripable lefts just the way I like it. I started it out with a solid 1st wave in the 1st 2 minutes of the 20 min final after that I got 4 more okay waves but knew I needed one more solid wave, time was running out I caught another wave with a minute and a half but it was less than perfect. I started to paddle back out with 45 seconds to go before I made it out a left started to peak right in front of me with 5 seconds to go I turned and paddle for it got to my feet at the horn and I rode it all the way to the beach. I was so stoked! It was the winning wave. I got to the beach with a huge grin knowing I had sealed the deal. I was especially stoked because I hadn't won a contest in a month or so and was feeling a bit down. But now I am back and ready for the new contest year. I also want to thank all of you my sponsors for all the support especially in this tough Economy.

Koastal team rider Collin O'Rourke is cruising his way around Indonesia for about a month, so look forward to seeing some amazing photos and video from Collin's trip by October. We will post them on our website and facebook page once he is back in town.

In other team rider news, we would also like to congratulate Brennan Aubol for getting 4th place at his first NSSA surf competition

Things to Look Forward to:

In the last Koastal newsletter we mentioned the production of a 15-20 minute Koastal video of the company history, how our products are made, some action footage of our team riders, and more. The filming for this project is well on its way and couldn't be better! We are stoked at how well everything is going, and a trailer for this project is coming soon!

On top of this project Koastal will also be making a 1-2 minute video about each of its boards. You will start seeing videos appear on our website as we knock out each one.

Events:

There will be an amazing show going on by our favorite band LOS SINDICATE so go check them out. There will also be a Koastal board up for raffle during the show.

Back by popular demand...lose your wallet and your rock n roll virginity in El Segundo as LOS SINDICATE rocks the South Bay once again at Harry O's. If you wanna see a loud radical sweaty rock band playing right up in your face while you get smashed off $3 drinks, this is the place for you!

When: September 25th

Where: Harry O's

226 Standard Street

El Segundo, California 90245

Cost: Cheap

Thank you for the continued support!
